E-Commerce

Yumble is a food delivery e-commerce platform running on the Stripe online payment service.

Its users can manage the payment details online signing up for subscription payments, paying for the kids' food on a daily, weekly, and monthly basis.

Parents can manage orders and enjoy the automated price count simply approving the payments from their accounts.

Mobile Applications

Charger Point is a mobile application for the eco-car owners.

This mobile app shows the availability of charging points around the city and enables a charging place booking.

Right after the car's batteries are full, the application automatically charges money from the user's credit card.

Business Solutions

The Print on Demand (POD) is a book publishing service devised for multiple purposes.

The users can come around and create their own books, brochures, albums and other visual materials on the specific digital devices. Then, they pay the publishing vendors that receive a request.

Before the very publisher releases the requested item, a respective sum of money is being reserved on the user's card and only after the user receives the material, the money is charged.
